

Public Policies for Revitalizing Pastoralism in the Mediterranean: Insights from a Comparative Analysis in the Region

INRAE

Funded by:

From the hypothesis that both social and technological innovations have the potential to reinforce the sustainability, profitability and resilience of pastoral family farms, the PASTINNOVA Project has showed that Pastoral Business Models can valorise their full potential as drivers of the agro-ecological transition in livestock production in the Mediterranean region. They should therefore be supported by strong public policies at the transnational (including European), national and regional levels. PASTINNOVA aims to shed light on the policies, strategies and orientations to be undertaken to work towards this transition and recognize the multi-sectorial (social, economic, environmental) role of pastoral activities. PASTINNOVA has prepared a White Paper on Mediterranean Pastoralism to raise awareness about the diverse forms of pastoralism prevalent in the region and the support they require.

From Living Laboratories meetings in Corsica (France), the Sétif region in Algeria and the Adana region in Turkey, the webinar presents a comparative analysis of the public policies in action in these three areas and how the White Paper could help policy makers to define their own strategies.

REGISTER NOW*10:00-10:05 Introduction

Antonio López-Francos (CIHEAM Zaragoza, Spain)

10:05-10:20 Exploring collectively the operational levers for the implementation of the livestock strategy in Corsica

Jean-Paul Dubeuf (INRAE-SELMET/LRDE, Corsica, France)

10:20-10:35 Agropastoralism on the High Plains of the Sétif region: Main issues and winning cards for public policies and development strategies in Algeria

Khaled Abbas (INRAE- Sétif, Algeria) –

10:35-10:50 Situation of the Livestock sector in Turkey, objectives of public policies and organization of support services in the Adana Region and in all the countries

Nazan Koluman (Cukurova University, Adana, Turkey)

10:50-11:15 The White Paper on Mediterranean pastoralism in light of the learnings from these three examples

Jean-Paul Dubeuf (INRAE-SELMET/LRDE, Corsica, France)

11:15-11:50 Q&A and close

Public Policies for Revitalizing Pastoralism in the Mediterranean: Insights from a Comparative Analysis in the Region

Funded by:

Additional reading material:

† A concept note on the activation of operational levers for the implementation of a livestock strategy in Corsica. Jean-Paul Dubeuf and Martin Vanier. Download here.

† Report of the National Policy meeting in Turkey – 04/25/2024. Jean-Paul Dubeuf and Nazan Koluman Download here.

† Report of the “Living Lab” on public policies and development strategies to be implemented in Algeria– 11/25/2024. Jean-Paul Dubeuf and Khaled Abbas Download here.

† The White paper on Pastoralism in the Mediterranean Area. (A collective PASTINNOVA publication). Download here.

† Executive Summary of the White paper on Pastoralism in the Mediterranean Area. Download here.